Luke 21:34-36—"But take heed to yourselves, lest your souls be weighed down with self-indulgence, and drunkenness, or the anxieties of this life, and that day come on you suddenly, like a falling trap; for it will come on all dwellers on the face of the whole earth. But beware of slumbering; and every moment pray that you may be fully strengthened to escape from all these coming evils, and to take your stand in the presence of the Son of Man" (Weymouth New Testament).

Since the Dobbs decision was released, supremely correcting a supremely wrong Roe decision, the Left has become even more unhinged.

Sadly, not unshackled.

The amount of mental and rhetorical contortions one must go through to justify the commercialized slaughter of millions of human beings is astounding. And Planned Parenthood is leading the charge.

Unsurprisingly, the activist arm of the Democrat Party, is throwing every absurd charge of racism it possibly can at the Pro-Life movement. You know, the same movement that fights to save every human life regardless of color?

The mere fact that Planned Parenthood now calls itself an anti-racist organization when it's the leading killer of black lives would be funny if it weren't so fatal.

For years, the nation's leading abortion plantation—I mean, federation—has claimed that abortion abolition is slavery. No. Abortion is slavery.

If America was "built on the backs of slaves", then Planned Parenthood was built on the backs, lungs, brains, livers, and wanted severed body parts of the unborn.

It was built upon the unceasing exploitation of women . . . wait, pregnant people . . . wait, menstruating people . . . wait, birthing people. Ahhhhhhh, non-prostate owners?

Anyway, mother and aborted child have made the abortion behemoth a $2.3 billion business, whether Planned Parenthood cares to acknowledge them or not.

Thankfully, the Dobbs decision set the record straight with the 14th Amendment, which finally recognized that people of my complexion were citizens and could not be deprived of "Life, Liberty or Property." This week we celebrate the ratification of the most abused amendment in history.

Troubled minds think alike

Planned Parenthood versus Casey led to another conjured up right: reliance. The majority opinion opined that women, over decades since Roe, have formed a "reliance on the availability of abortion in the event that contraception should fail."

The three dissenting justices in Dobbs (Breyer, Kagan and Sotomayor) exclaimed: "When Roe and Casey disappear, the loss of power, control, and dignity will be immense."

Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen claimed, without evidence, that ending Roe "would have very damaging effects on the economy and would set women back decades."

Pro-slavery politicians thought the exact same thing, fearing the end of slavery. John C. Calhoun, a Democratic Senator from South Carolina opined: ""Be it good or bad, [slavery] has grown up with our society and institutions and is so interwoven with them that to destroy it would be to destroy us as a people."

The same political Party that went to war to protect slavery has announced, through its surrogates, that it will be ungovernable during its "Summer of Rage."

President Joe Biden, who once said that Roe "went too far", sadly hyperbolized that the overturning of Roe "set us back 150 years."

No. It actually took us back to 1972 when abortion was illegal in the majority of states. But if you ask pro-abortion activists or the historically-challenged president of Planned Parenthood (Alexis McGill Johnson), it takes us back to slavery.

Bodily autonomy

Ahhh, the religious dogma among those who believe the sacrifice of another body is the highest virtue. MSNBC's Zerlina Maxwell claimed that abortion and bodily autonomy were "added in later" to the Constitution. Hmm. Didn't read that version. Her guest, law professor Michele Goodwin, then claimed that slavery "was explicitly the denial of bodily autonomy and liberty."

What so-called reproductive justice activists get completely wrong about bodily autonomy is that our humanity is first.

- No one is going to care about your body if they don't regard you as human.
- Your body has no "rights" when you're viewed as property.
- Slavery was the denial of personhood, refusing to recognize that every person is a human, and every human is a person.

Throughout history, heinous treatment of fellow human beings wasn't the result of failing to see they had "rights over their bodies" but that those somebodies had no inherent right to live.

Slavery. Abortion. Same wrongs. Different century.

The many comparisons

Slavery violently removed millions of human beings from their natural home, treating them as chattel that was salable or disposable.

Abortion violently removes millions of human beings from their natural home, treating them as chattel that is salable (in wanted body parts) or disposable.

Abortion severs children inside of their mothers in order to profit abortionists.

The institution of slavery prospered by implementing systemic rape and forcing pregnancies.

Seven men in black robes decided that a group of humans were mere property and not protected by the Constitution in the 1857 Dred Scott decision, denying millions their God-given humanity.

Seven men in black robes decided that a group of humans were mere property and not protected by the Constitution in the 1973 Roe decision, denying millions their God-given humanity.

Slavemasters tried to use the Bible to justify the brutal inhumanity of slavery.

- Even though the Bible speaks of being made in the image of God, pro-slavery advocates denied it.
- Even though the Bible denounced the kidnapping and sale of people into chattel slavery, pro-slavery advocates denied it.
- Even though the Bible commands "You shall not murder", pro-slavery advocates denied that people were being killed.

Abortionists try to use the Bible to justify the brutal inhumanity of abortion (e.g. Willie Parker who claimed the parable of the Good Samaritan inspired him to become an abortionist).

- Even though the Bible speaks of being made in the image of God, pro-abortion advocates deny it.
- Even though the Bible commands "You shall not murder", pro-abortion advocates deny that people are being killed.

Slavery caused American society to turn its back on the most marginalized and accept the status quo. A remnant, though, refused to be silent or intimidated. They fought peacefully to abolish the evil so that "created equal" applied to every member of the human family.

Abortion caused American society to turn its back on the most marginalized and accept the status quo. A remnant, though, refuses to be silent or intimidated. We fight peacefully to abolish the evil so that "created equal" applies to every member of the human family.

The late Dr. Mildred Jefferson (the first black woman to graduate from Harvard Medical School, first female surgeon at Boston Medical, and cofounder of the National Right to Life) had this to say about abortion: "I would guess that the abortionists have done more to get rid of generations and cripple others than all of the years of slavery and lynchings."

I'm with her.

An article by Oliver North titled "July 4, 1776: Sacrificing for Freedom" was posted at townhall.com on July 5, 2022. Following is the article.

Yesterday we celebrated the 246th anniversary of America's founding. It came about as an act of Congress. The differences between the Congress of 1776 and 2022 are extraordinary.

Then, Congress had just 56 members. Now, 535. Then, as now, our nation was in the midst of insurrection. On Wednesday, April 19, 1775, British troops fired on American "insurrectionists" in Lexington and Concord, Massachusetts.

Congress sprang into action!

Fourteen months later, June 11, 1776, the Continental Congress met in Philadelphia to decide what to do about British efforts to impose total control over everyone in their 13 American colonies.

Congress appointed a committee and ordered them to draft a secret document. On Wednesday, June 12, 1776, the committee met in a rented room in a boarding house at Market and 7th Streets.

It took the five members of the secret committee 14 days — they didn't meet on Sundays — to reach agreement on a draft. On Friday, June 28, 1776, they presented their draft to those who set them to their task.

The "committee of the whole" chaired by Benjamin Harrison of Virginia tabled the resolution for editing. In just two days the larger body made 86 changes, eliminating 480 words and leaving 1,337 words.

The evening of July 1, 1776, was hot and steamy. The chairman of the five-man committee sat at the portable desk he designed and built and began preparing what all hoped would be the final version of the document.

On Tuesday morning, July 2, a 33-year-old Virginia farmer delivered his "fair draft" on four pages of parchment. The farmer was Thomas Jefferson, and the body to which he delivered the document was the Second Continental Congress.

These 56 representatives of the 13 colonies resolved that day to declare independence from Great Britain.

That night in a letter to his wife, Abigail, committee member John Adams wrote: "The Second Day of July 1776, will be the most memorable Epocha, in the History of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated, by succeeding Generations, as the great anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated, as the Day of Deliverance by solemn Acts of Devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with Pomp and Parade . . ."

According to the Congressional Record, on July 4, 1776, Benjamin Harrison of Charles City County, Virginia, "delivered to congress a final reading of the document which was unanimously agreed upon."

■ To this day it remains the only seminal document of any nation on Earth to pay homage to God Almighty.

■ No founding document for any other nation reflects on “the laws of nature and of nature’s God.”

■ No other proclamation declares all people “are created equal” and “endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.”

■ No other national manuscript appeals “to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions ...”

■ No other national manuscript places the fate of its signers in the hands of God with a prayer like this: “For the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor.”

Those prayers and pledges were ratified in the U.S. Constitution on Sept. 17, 1787, and the Bill of Rights on Dec. 19, 1791.

Today, in the midst of an insurrection against our Declaration of Independence and our Constitution, “We the People” must elect a Congress willing to sacrifice “selfish” for “selfless.”

Let me first begin by stating that America is not a democracy; it is a constitutional republic.

Matter of fact, in Article IV, Section 4 of our Constitution, known as the “Guarantee Clause,” the federal government is supposed to guarantee to every State in the Union a “Republican form of government.”

Now, that does not mean a Republican party, but rather the form of governance associated with that of a Republic. As you recall, Benjamin Franklin when asked what form of government the founders created, replied “a republic, if you can keep it.”

Our Republic is grounded in our rule of law, the Constitution, and individual rights, freedoms, and liberties. The mechanism by which we sustain this longest running constitutional republic the world has ever known is through democratic principles and institutions, but America is not a democracy.

That is not what our founding fathers wanted for this nation. A pure democracy lends itself to a mobocracy of majority dominance, where one group seeks to impose its totalitarian will upon another.

No, here in our American republic we utilize representative democracy where by the people elect those who will be their voice, abide by the rule of law and honor the institutions of our republican form of governance.

But what happens when a certain group decides to assail those very democratic institutions?

I remember when then President Barack Obama stood before the Members of Congress, House and Senate during a State of the Union address and derided the Supreme Court, right before them. Perhaps you remember Justice Alito being caught on camera mouthing his dissent.

It was the same Obama who stood, again during a State of the Union address, and declared to the legislative branch of the United States of America that "I have a pen and a phone." Threatening to take unilateral executive action to do what was not getting done legislatively.

And the amazing thing was that the Democrat side of the aisle stood and clapped, even cheered. They were praising a violation of one of our fundamental institutions of our democracy, the separation of powers along with checks and balances among the three branches of government. In essence, they were clapping themselves out of a job and abdicating their constitutional duties and responsibilities.

We continue to hear the progressive socialist left, aka the Democrat Party, speak about attacks on our democracy. The truth is that we must protect democracy from the Democrat Party.

Just last week, the current occupant of the Oval Office, Joe Biden, went on a tirade against a coequal branch of the government, the judiciary. On an international stage he referred to their decision on the Dobbs case addressing Roe v. Wade as "outrageous behavior."

Of course, the SCOTUS was doing their proper constitutional duty in interpreting law and assessing a previous court decision. We do not have a "court-stitution" in America. We have a constitution.

And now we have the left in America seeking to pack the highest court in the land with their judicial activists...known as court packing. This is something that was proposed by Franklin Delano Roosevelt, a Democrat.

The left and President Biden are now talking about ending the filibuster so they can pass through their ideological agenda in the US Senate with no opposition. This goes against the established rules and procedures of the US Senate, and basically relegates it to being a smaller version of the US House of Representatives, where it only takes a simple majority.

The left, if you have not heard, does not like the fact that we have this thing called the Electoral College—another one of our institutions of representative democracy that precludes certain states from dominating our national electoral process.

The left has created the National Popular Vote Interstate Compact in order to undermine the Electoral College and revert to a popular vote basis for electing a president, meaning California and New York will dominate and determine and the voices of smaller rural states will be lost.

As well, under the guise of voting rights, the left wants to nationalize our elections and remove any power from the states, violating that pesky ideal, fundamental concept, called federalism.

Let us not forget that it was Barack Obama who stated in Columbia, Missouri, that we were "five days away from fundamentally transforming the United States of America."

Unless you are blind, deaf, and oblivious to the truth before you, it is obvious he referred to creating a progressive, socialist, leftist, Marxist America.

There is no debate as to who is the real threat to our representative democracy. The left in America wants no political or ideological opposition, and our Constitution along with our democratic institutions stand in their way of totalitarian, tyrannical control.

If we choose to protect democracy and our constitutional republic, then we must choose to support and defend our institutions and documents. We just celebrated our 246th anniversary as a nation, yet the left wants us to believe that America was founded in 1619.

When former members of the Reagan administration created the American Constitutional Rights Union they had an idea that this day would come, and here it is.

I always thought it funny that East Germany was called DDR (Deutschland Democratic Republic), or North Korea is the DPRK (Democratic Peoples Republic of Korea), even the former Soviet Union was called the USSR (Union of Soviet Socialist Republics). Leftists are REALLY good at manipulating language, all to the detriment of free people.

Remember the prescient words of Scottish political philosopher, Alexander Fraser Tytler from the 18th century: "A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover that they can vote themselves largesse from the public treasury. From that moment on, the majority always votes for the candidates promising the most benefits from the public treasury with the result that a democracy always collapses over loose fiscal policy, always followed by a dictatorship. The average age of the world's greatest civilizations has been 200 years. These nations have progressed through this sequence: From bondage to spiritual faith; From spiritual faith to great courage; From courage to liberty; From liberty to abundance; From abundance to selfishness; From selfishness to apathy; From apathy to dependence; From dependence back into bondage."

Where do you think we are in this cycle? America is a constitutional Republic . . . if we can keep it.

Steadfast and Loyal.

An article by Michelle Malkin titled "America, the Globalist Grift" was posted at cnsnews.com on July 6, 2022. Following is the article.

I hate to snuff out any post-Independence Day fervor that you still might be enjoying. Oh, well. "Wet Blanket" is my middle name. All the annual Old Glory-waving rituals and public displays of patriotic affection can't change this bitter fact:

Our once-sovereign nation has become nothing more than a morbidly obese cash cow for what the Biden administration now openly calls the "liberal world order."

Higher gas prices are just the tip of the sacrifice iceberg. It's our posterity paying the globalist pipers. In the new "liberal world order" (which is really just the same old Bush family "New World Order" of more than three decades ago), homegrown children's needs are subjugated to the hopes and dreams of the children of the rest of the world.

Stick with me and follow an open-borders bouncing ball that demonstrates how multinational elites exploit America Last—with the brazen complicity of our own U.S. government, nonprofits and corporations. As always, we must follow the money to find the truth.

According to WFMY-TV news in Greensboro, North Carolina, a failed international school venture called the American Hebrew Academy entered into a lucrative five-year lease agreement this week with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Office of Refugee Resettlement.

The plan will turn AHA's sprawling campus into a tax-subsidized shelter for illegal alien youth. The "unaccompanied children" will be shipped from Mexico starting this month and will be treated to a comprehensive array of benefits exclusively showered on the offspring of southern border violators.

I exposed the HHS/ORR kiddie catch-and-release racket in my 2019 book, "Open Borders Inc."

Thanks to a liberal Bill Clinton-appointed judge in Southern California and convoluted class-action litigation dating back to 1997 on behalf of illegals spearheaded by the American Civil Liberties Union, the feds created new rights and standards for illegal alien minor shelter care.

Clinton immigration bureaucrats agreed to provide food, clothing, personal grooming items, medical and dental care, family planning, “at least one hour a day of large muscle activity,” “structured leisure time activities,” psychotherapy and lawyers. Lots of lawyers.

HHS now operates a network of 100 state-licensed shelters in 17 states and has provided care to a whopping total of over 340,000 illegal alien children.

(For perspective: That’s a population roughly equivalent to the city of Anaheim, California, or Aurora, Colorado.)

In 2017, the budget was $1.4 billion. In 2022, the Biden administration has requested an astronomical $3.2 billion in funding for the program.

Fun fact: The Biden administration rerouted $2 billion in covid-19 funds for Americans to the illegal alien youth housing boondoggle.

Those tax funds will subsidize a panoply of for-profit and nonprofit ventures serving foreigners’ children on American soil, which in turn provides bottomless inducements for countless hundreds of thousands of other families around the world to fork over coyote fees to send even more unaccompanied minors across our borders, who then move into the HHS/ORR facilities, which are served by nearly 50 other organizations at a cost of over $34,000 per child, according to the Capital Research Center.

So while you’re worrying about formula, diaper and food shortages for your own kiddos, rest assured: Open Borders, Inc. is hard at work spending your money on everyone else’s babies, toddlers and teens.

Let us peer further into the defunct “American Hebrew Academy,” which is now reinventing itself as part of the Biden leasing scheme as the “Greensboro Piedmont Academy Influx Care Facility for UC (unaccompanied minors)” and the “Greensboro Global Academy.”

The AHA was in a “financial death spiral” for years after its profligate founder and aviation reinsurance mogul, Maurice Sabbah, threw $100 million down a black hole pursuing his dream of building a world-renowned boarding school in 2001 that he envisioned as “an international destination in elite Jewish education,” according to The Forward.

But that year, an arbitration panel ruled that Sabbah’s aviation reinsurance business had committed fraud and “willful and deliberate misconduct” by skimming off hundreds of millions of dollars for its founders, leaving Japanese insurance companies high and dry when 9/11 happened; the decision yielded a $400 million settlement. The ripped-off companies then sued and settled with AHA to recoup purloined funds.

The operators of the academy tried to salvage the 100-acre campus—replete with an $18 million athletic field, 22-acre lake, 16 dorms, 34 staff resident apartments, natatorium, climbing walls and high-tech gadgetry in every classroom—by rebranding as an “international school” targeting Middle Eastern and Asian students.

The goal: bringing “globalization” to Greensboro.

The “American Hebrew Academy” turned to a “private” education company called Puxin in communist China for a $26 million loan in 2019 for help.

In May 2022, the New York Stock Exchange moved to suspend trading in Puxin and delist it amid longstanding allegations of fraud. As Judicial Watch notes, “the money HHS is paying in rent will likely be used to pay back the Chinese company.”

God bless America? God help us from the globalist grifters making bank off whatever is still left of this country, if that is what you call it.

If the covid-19 vaccines have been a disappointment from a public health standpoint in stopping the continuing spread of new variants of the disease, why is Big Pharma as well as its government allies in the FDA, CDC, and NIH still pushing them?

As Deep Throat whispered to Bob Woodward during the Watergate scandal (“Follow the money”), so, too, the American public should be demanding the same of its political leaders: Follow the covid money to determine why we continue to spend a fortune on something that seems to have only a relatively limited benefit.

But our elected officials are embarrassingly quiet on answering the basic question of who exactly is benefiting from the constant rounds of shots being foisted on or recommended to the American public?

Maybe the silence comes from the fact that the pharmaceutical industry spends more on lobbying than any other industry group.

In 2020 big pharma spent over $300 million lobbying officeholders and government officials. It clearly pays off.

- The research to develop the covid-19 vaccines was nearly all funded by taxpayers.
- The distribution of the vaccines, once developed, was further funded nearly entirely by taxpayers.
- The record-keeping and reporting on the vaccines is also at the expense of taxpayers.
- The new repurposed Pfizer drug Paxlovid, used to treat covid, has been paid for by taxpayers.

If the vaccinations are proving to be ineffective in stopping the march of the disease, are they really worth what the federal government is paying the pharmaceutical industry to manufacture, distribute, and administer them?

Is the public being played for suckers by a cabal of industry giants and their friends in the medical bureaucracies?

Just consider a few facts.

- It poured another $9.53 billion into digital advertising aimed at consumers and industry in 2020.
- This total of nearly $15 billion spent by Big Pharma on advertising is more than twice what is spent on new cancer drug research.
- In fact, nine out of 10 of the largest pharmaceutical companies in America spend more on advertising than on research and development.

But there is more.

- This might be the reason: Almost half of the funding that supports the U.S. Food and Drug Administration comes from the very industries it is mandated to oversee.

CDC funding is similar. But it also receives large grants for covid research from the Bloomberg Family Foundation and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

By contrast, money given by the private sector to the NIH is mostly hidden from the public. More troubling is the fact that the NIH allows its publicly-employed researchers to receive royalty payments from government-funded activities that result in private company income.

Present and former NIH researchers received annual royalty payments averaging $9,700 in addition to their taxpayer-funded, biweekly paychecks. Some have been reported to receive as much as $150,000 in annual royalty rewards!

With the government pouring huge amounts of money on the pharmaceutical houses to develop an anti-covid vaccine, no wonder information about all of the early treatment protocols developed by private-sector doctors working on their own was suppressed by the CDC and shunned by the FDA.

Even more depressing was the fact that the media went along with this suppression of free speech and information. Social media companies, for their part, routinely banned and deplatformed any physician speaking contrary to the federal government's accepted bureaucratic narrative. Why?

Do you think the big social media companies might also have profited from the direct-to-consumer advertising of the government-funded products in the same way as traditional media?

Do you know a lot of cases where the hand that feeds it is bitten?

This isn't speculation, it's big money.

- Moderna is forecasting $19 billion in covid sales with the vaccine being its only current commercial product.

Moderna had never produced a vaccine before it developed its covid shots. Pfizer, BioNTech, and Moderna are reported to be making $1,000 in profit every second of every business day

Big pharmacy chains are also participating in this government largess as well. The big chains earn ". . . roughly $40 per shot" from the federal government. Since the government provides the pharmacy chains with the vaccines and Paxlovid for free, almost all their charge for administering the shots or dispensing the drug is profit.

- There have been at least nine new billionaires created in the vaccine world as a result of covid-19.
- No one has counted the new millionaires in covid-19's wake.

Is there any wonder that the Pfizer CEO would offer the thought that an annual covid-19 vaccine booster is almost a certainty? And so would his annual multiple million-dollar bonuses for bringing in this kind of business.

But we can reverse all this. A congressional investigation must be launched to shine light on what this crony capitalism is doing to American taxpayers and their health system.

An article by (black journalist) Will Alexander titled "Uncle Tom Label Is Rhetorical 'Bone-Pointing' for Political Rats" was posted at townhall.com on July 5, 2022. Following is the article.

Wild rats capable of swimming 90 or more hours will die in minutes if they're terrified before plunging into water, Dr. Harold G. Wolff, a pioneer of psychosomatic illness, once wrote.

When male wild rats were introduced into established rat colonies, most of the interloping rats died within hours after the resident rats viciously attacked them. The rats died, not from their injuries, but from a deep sense of despair after being “cancelled.”

“The fact that the interlopers were excluded from the group seemed to make them more vulnerable,” Wolff wrote in his essay The Mind-Body Relationship (1961). For humans, “. . . bone-pointing, hexing, and excommunication of transgressors of tribal mores may shorten life if not immediately kill a man.”

A well-known example of bone-pointing is the kurdaitcha man, a kind of shaman who is given the power to punish the guilty in certain Aboriginal groups in Central Australia.

When the shaman points a bone at the guilty, they’re expected to die. And most do. Deeply believing they’ve been cursed by some outside force, victims become listless, deny themselves food and water, and die within days.

Death, say doctors, is psychosomatic and self-willed, caused mostly by an extreme emotional response to fear.

In America, cancel culture, tyrannical group pressure, criminalizing political differences, and ostracizing black conservatives as “Uncle Toms” has become a type of social and political bone-pointing.

With no regard for truth or facts, backward “shamans” point the bone willy-nilly at those who dare to differ with the deeply flawed political superstitions of the group.

The pointing is not designed to honestly debate issues but to kill opposition, kill reputations, kill relationships, and kill independent thinking. Political bone-pointing is rat-like behavior that uses group exclusion and irrational fear to exploit a person’s primal need for a sense of belonging.

Nowhere has it been so destructive for so long than inside established colonies within the black political class who viciously attack black conservatives as “sellouts,” “coons,” “Oreos” and “Uncle Toms.”

If you disagree with the groups’ basic political philosophy—mainly that big government is the cure for the exaggerated impacts of slavery and Jim Crow—you are sentenced to political death. Your “lived experience” doesn’t matter. Your excruciating journey to the top of your profession from nothing doesn’t matter. Your color doesn’t matter.

Commit the cardinal sin of thinking differently and you’re an interloper, a racial Benedict Arnold, and a hater of your own race. For many blacks, the primal fear of racial exclusion is extreme. Magnitudes worse than being called the n-word.

It’s likely the reason why it’s much easier for the world’s richest black woman, Oprah Winfrey, and twice-elected world’s most powerful man, Barack Obama, to just toe the racial line. Borrowing Shelby Steele’s view on white guilt, they harbor black guilt. Not that they’re guilty of anything, but they are in terror of being labeled as an Uncle Tom, a stigma that carries real costs.

No black conservative in modern history has been more pointed to as America’s archetypal Uncle Tom than Justice Clarence Thomas.

Since the historic Dobbs decision overturning Roe v. Wade, a pack of black politicians and celebrities mindlessly excoriated the decision with an extra dose of pent-up venom for Thomas's dissent. None was louder than Samuel Leroy Jackson, a reliable shaman of drive-by bone-pointing.

"How's Uncle Clarence feeling about Overturning Loving v. Virginia??!" Jackson tweeted, referring to the high court's decision to legalize interracial marriage.

Just like that, Jackson defamed Thomas as an Uncle Tom in a nine-word tweet that went viral, about an articulate, painstakingly thought-through dissent that the actor, more than likely, never read. Jackson, by his own admission, is not big on the details of politics but is inarticulately vulgar when talking about the headlines.

"I voted for Barack because he was black," he told Ebony magazine. "'Cuz that's why other folks vote for other people—because they look like them. . . . [Obama's] message didn't mean sh*t to me."

On his tweets against Trump to Esquire magazine: "This motherfu@ker is like ruining the planet and all kinds of other crazy sh*t," he said. "And the people think that's okay. It's not fu@king okay . . . And I wouldn't give a fu@k if I was a garbageman and I had a Twitter account; I'd tweet that sh*t out. I'm not thinking about who I am and what my job is when I do that sh*t."

In a political sense, Jackson is a garbageman. The curse-laden incantations he regurgitates is pure garbage based on fiction. It's hard to believe that Jackson and so many others who so recklessly defame great black conservatives as Uncle Toms, have ever even read Harriet Beecher Stowe's book, Uncle Tom's Cabin, in the running for the most influential book in American history.

Stowe was the "little woman who wrote the book that made this great (Civil) war," as Lincoln described her. The novel—banned in the South and second in sales only to the Bible—sold 10,000 copies in a week after it was published, 300,000 in a year, and 1.5 million copies in one year in Great Britain.

To bottom-line it, Chapter 40 of the book captures the real Uncle Tom character that Stowe created. He was a devout Christian. Samuel L. Jackson and other bone-pointers could be archetypes of another character she created for the story—Sambo, a vicious black slave who Simon Legree, Tom's ruthlessly evil master appointed as assistant overseer of his slaves. Sambo hated Tom with a passion.

When Legree learned that Tom helped his slaves to escape, he threatened to kill him unless he divulged the details of their whereabouts.

"But he [Uncle Tom] felt strong in God to meet death, rather than betray the helpless," Stowe wrote. "The savage words [of Legree] none of them reached that ear!—a higher voice there was saying, 'Fear not them that kill the body, and, after that, have no more that they can do.'"

At jeopardy of his life, Tom never betrayed the slaves. "Do the worst you can," he told Legree, "my troubles will be over soon; but if ye don't repent, yours won't never end!"

Foaming with rage, Legree knocked Tom to the ground, then he ordered two slaves to beat him to death. Without an ounce of the integrity of Tom, the slaves obeyed their master. One of those slaves was Sambo.

If the Clarence Thomases, Larry Elders, Candance Owens and other black conservatives must be caricatured as the archetypes of Uncle Tom in a world where big government is the new slave master, then their hate-filled critics are archetypes of Sambo.

As Uncle Tom portrayed, even in slavery, men are not rats. “Man is capable of enduring incredible burdens,” Wolff wrote, “when he has self-esteem, hope, purpose and belief in his fellows.”

Something that rats—especially political ones—never seem to learn.

An article by (black journalist) Jason Whitlock titled “Say It Loud: ‘Rev’ Al Sharpton Is the Black Jim Jones, Marxist and Proud” was posted at theblaze.com on June 30, 2022. Following are excerpts of the article.

Al Sharpton has spent much of the past week attacking the pro-life movement and the Supreme Court for overturning Roe v. Wade. During an appearance on MSNBC’s “Morning Joe,” Sharpton claimed that the pro-life movement has hijacked the Bible.

“Real Christians that really study the bible ought to be incensed,” Sharpton told Joe Scarborough. “I’ve been a preacher since I was a little boy. I am incensed and insulted that they have hijacked the Bible and Jesus to distort and misquote—well, it’s not even a misquote—create quotes that are not there to justify a right-wing kind of ideology that would take away the rights of women and then scheduled to take other people’s rights. And what is strange to me, Joe, they can see scripture that is not there about abortion. But they couldn’t see love your neighbor when it came down to putting things through that would help the poor and help the needy.”

Al Sharpton is not a minister. He’s a disciple of politics disguised as a disciple of God. His role is to bait religious people, particularly black religious people, into abandoning their faith, values, and principles for political power.

For people of faith, abortion is not a political issue. It’s a moral one, a spiritual one. It’s about the value of human life and where that life begins. The Bible, in numerous passages and verses, makes it clear that life begins in the womb and that a mother’s womb is sacred.

- I don’t have a problem with non-religious people arguing for abortion. They believe the Bible is fiction. They don’t pretend to have a biblical worldview.
- My problem is with people like Sharpton who espouse and promote secular values while professing a deep respect for and allegiance to biblical values.

Sharpton should quit calling himself a minister or a reverend. He should renounce his faith. He's an entertainer, a performer, and a con artist.

Before fully committing himself to working as a knockoff Jesse Jackson, Sharpton was the Godfather of Soul's tour manager and enabler for eight years. James Brown raised Al Sharpton.

Brown used his money and fame to satiate his illicit taste for women and drugs. Say it loud: James Brown was violent, high, and vile. He dodged rape and domestic violence allegations. He married four times. Sharpton witnessed Brown's immorality and saw a father figure.

Sharpton said: "What I do functionally is what Dr. King, Reverend Jackson, and the movement are all about; but I learned manhood from James Brown. I always say James Brown taught me how to be a man."

Mystery solved.

The pro-life movement hijacked the Bible and Jesus? Really?

Sharpton did that. He helped convince a large number of Christians that our duty is to ease the consequences of biblical disobedience rather than to teach the poor and needy the benefits of biblical obedience.

Sharpton promotes the secular view of charity—an organization set up to provide help and raise money for those in need. For believers, charity simply means love. The greatest form of biblical love is discipling men and women in the ways of Jesus Christ and witnessing how those ways transform the person. Christians believe love transforms. Non-religious people believe money transforms.

That's why as soon as the Supreme Court overturned Roe, the left immediately began agitating for the government to finance more programs for single mothers.

Sharpton claims to be a minister. He should be agitating for a decrease in single motherhood and promiscuous and irresponsible sex, with an increase in marriage and responsible sex.

But the man who taught Sharpton to be a man did not respect marriage or responsible sex. Sharpton is a man of the world, teaching secular solutions to spiritual problems. The secular world believes man has made a pill to solve every problem.

If you eat too much, take this pill to control your blood sugar. If you can't resist unprotected sex, take this pill to abort the baby. If you ignored your schoolwork and can't land a high-paying job, blame racism, sexism, or homophobia.

Whatever problem afflicts you, look to the government to fix it. Never look at the man or woman in the mirror. Never adopt the mindset and values spelled out in the Bible.

Al Sharpton distorts biblical truth for 20 pieces of silver from the Democratic Party. He's never really hidden this. He began promoting same-sex marriage in 2004 when he ran for president. He paved the road for Barack Obama to come out of the closet and disavow a biblical worldview.

Sharpton's job is to lead black people to hell and assuage the guilt of white liberals. He's worse than Jim Jones, the 1970s minister turned cult leader who seduced primarily black followers into Marxism and mass suicide.

An article by (black journalist) Jason Whitlock titled "Highland Park Massacre a Reminder That Only God Can Resurrect America" was posted at theblaze.com on July 5, 2022. Following are excerpts of the article.

That's how it felt Monday when I learned a gunman killed six and injured at least three dozen more during an Independence Day parade in Highland Park, Illinois.

What was born on the Fourth of July—a system of governance predicated on the belief that all men are created equal and endowed by their creator with unalienable rights—died on the Fourth of July. For 246 years, that belief united the states of America. That belief is gone now. It's been eradicated from the minds of too many Americans for this country to remain whole.

The United States of America has been balkanized, polarized, and demonized to the point that we can no longer joyfully and unapologetically celebrate our birthday.

The New York Times, the nation's alleged newspaper of record, claims the real founding of this country was in 1619 and the real motivation was slavery, not freedom. ESPN, the worldwide leader in sports, published a piece Monday denigrating the Fourth and arguing that a three-hour riot at the Capitol, the overturning of Roe v. Wade, the demise of Colin Kaepernick's NFL career, Jack Del Rio calling January 6 a "dust-up," and Justice Clarence Thomas' objection to same-sex marriage prove America's irreparable wickedness.

Half the country sees the American flag as a symbol of oppression and pride as a virtue.

We're dead. Dead on the Fourth of July.

Robert Crimo, a 22-year-old kid arrested for the Highland Park shooting, allegedly ended what 46-year-old Crispus Attucks started on March 5, 1770. Accurate historians won't credit Crimo with America's death. The autopsy will show that the greatest experiment in human history succumbed to the cancer of cultural rot and the rejection of biblical truth.

Highland Park, Uvalde, Waukesha, the summer of George Floyd riots, the covid lockdowns, the family-friendly drag queen grooming, the New York Times 1619 Project, Trump derangement, critical race theory, and the vilification of law enforcement are all byproducts of the cultural decay.

Those of you hoping midterm elections will save this country will be greatly disappointed. Politics cannot fix what's wrong with America. There are no political solutions to spiritual problems.

Our current culture will continue to manufacture Robert Crimos the same way factory assembly lines produce SUVs. American culture is narcissistic by any means necessary and views the right to kill as fundamental to freedom.

The alleged killer Crimo sought attention and worth through the celebration of death. Like the Waukesha alleged mass murderer, Darrell Brooks, Crimo fashioned himself a rapper. Using the name "Awake," Crimo rapped inside a classroom and insinuated he might one day shoot schoolchildren. YouTube has taken down his content.

Why?

Crimo's rap content is no different, no more demonic, than the standard commercialized and celebrated rap music. A rapper in Florida, YNW Melly, sits in jail today waiting to be tried this summer for two cases of premeditated murder. Melly's most popular song, which has more than 500 million views on YouTube, is "Murder on My Mind." It's every bit as wicked and demented as Crimo's rap content.

Crimo and Melly simply mimic the content of rap music's biggest stars. Watch Dr. Dre and Ice Cube's "Natural Born Killaz" video. Watch Snoop Dogg's "Murder Was the Case." It's an ode celebrating the deal Snoop cut with Satan. Watch 50 Cent's "Many Men." It celebrates a revenge killing.

American culture is sick and depraved.

Educators are fighting for the right to talk with 5-, 6-, and 7-year-olds about sexuality and gender. An adult talking about sex with kids was considered perversion in my childhood. Now we're bringing drag queens into schools and libraries to teach kids to read. The people who object to this perversion are deemed villains.

The rejection of religious faith has empowered a culture of fear. We shut down the country because of covid, a bad version of the flu. We denied kids an education because of covid. We forced kids to wear masks and avoid interaction because of fear of covid. We stole two years of their childhood out of fear.

American culture is sick and depraved.

Elle Duncan, an ESPN broadcaster, released a video encouraging so-called "girl dads" to fight for abortion rights. She argued that women's freedom is directly related to their access to abortion. Modern American culture is obsessed with murder. It's reflected in our music, our TV shows, our perception of freedom.

We have rejected God's natural order.

This nation's founding documents were based on God's natural order. This country was built for families. Family is at the center of a biblical worldview. The Founding Fathers could not predict that this country would abandon God's prescribed family structure—man, woman, and children. How could they see that future?

In the 1700s, family was essential to survival. Men and women absolutely needed each other for survival. We still do. But we've convinced ourselves that we don't. Technological advances have fooled us into believing that families are luxury items.

Before the industrial revolution, when most work was backbreaking and hunting and farming were necessary for eating, women believed men were necessary and a force for good. The laws and customs established during that time frame reflected man's essentialness to survival and woman's essentialness to reproduction.

Two hundred years later, we look back and call those men and women unenlightened. Were they? I'm not so sure.

As it relates to family, we're far more unenlightened than the founders. We don't believe in family. We think it's optional and unimportant. We think there's no penalty for killing a child in the womb or walking away from a marriage when things turn difficult.

We think the Second Amendment, which grants us the ability to protect our rights, is destroying America. The destruction of family and the abandonment of God are destroying America.

The attack on God, family, and guns killed America.

Isaiah 55:6-11—“Seek you the LORD while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the LORD, and He will have mercy on him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. ‘For My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways My ways,’ says the LORD. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and do not return there, but water the earth, and make it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall My word be that goes forth from My mouth; it shall not return to Me void, but it shall accomplish what I please, and it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.”
