Luke 21:34-36—“But take heed to yourselves, lest your souls be weighed down with self-indulgence, and drunkenness, or the anxieties of this life, and that day come on you suddenly, like a falling trap; for it will come on all dwellers on the face of the whole earth. But beware of slumbering; and every moment pray that you may be fully strengthened to escape from all these coming evils, and to take you stand in the presence of the Son of Man” (Weymouth New Testament).

An article by Mark Lewis titled “ ‘Our Constitution Was Made Only for a Moral and Religious People’ – Part One” was posted at townhall.com on April 14, 2024. Following are excerpts of the article.

John Adams wrote: “Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other.”

I believe I have demonstrated in many articles that Leftists hate God and religion more than anything else because they cannot allow the slave in their Marxist system to have any higher allegiance than their totalitarian government masters.

It is also obvious, however, that Leftists loathe history almost as much as they do God and religion – because true history (especially American history) is as devastating to their cause as God is.

But then, their god Marx said: “Keep people from their history and they are easily controlled.”

Recently, I referred the Adams quote at the beginning of this column to a Leftist. His response was: “Conservatives have always taken that quote out of context.”

No, conservatives have not done so. The quote means exactly what Mr. Adams said.

While America’s Founders certainly did not establish a theocracy, neither did they intend that religion would have no part to play in American affairs.

I quoted Andrew Jackson to my Leftist correspondent: “That Book (the Bible) is the rock on which our Republic rests.”

The Leftist responded: “But, but, but – Jackson was a slave owner.”

This kind of hypocrisy and illogical argumentation is typical of Leftists. In their own eyes, Leftism is the “god” of humanity – always evolving. They never try to put history into its context; they always judge others (even in history) by their current, modern, continually changing Leftist standard. If the morality of pet ideas (including murdering unborn babies, mutilating children, allowing near-mass murder in the streets of the cities they govern) are ever-changing, how can they condemn slave-holders for submitting to the ever-changing morality of their own time? Hypocrisy, thy name is Leftist.

Unfortunately for Leftists, Jackson’s quote is the exact truth. Nearly everybody in early America believed that the Bible was the foundation of American society.

They want to morph American history into opposition to Christianity so that they can create the godless, totalitarian government they want. And make you the new Democratic Party slaves.

Their policies are about absolute power and controlling other people – the cardinal element of Leftist ideology. Power (not freedom) is their mantra.

The more chaos there is in a society, the more need there is (they believe) for the government to step in and “control” that society. In other words, more power for the government (them).

A responsible, moral, self-controlled, virtuous person is the last thing the Left wants – because people like that don’t need government. The Leftist wants more murder in American streets, increased moral perversity and unrestrained hedonism. Such things are the very source and foundation of their grasping for power.

This brings me back to John Adams and his quote at the beginning of this essay – and why the Left hates him so much and must lie about his statement.

An article by Mark Lewis titled “ Our Constitution Was Made Only for a Moral and Religious People’ – Part Two” was posted at townhall.com on April 17, 2024. Following are excerpts of the article.

John Adams wrote: “Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other.” What did Adams mean and why do Leftists hate him and our Founders so much?

- To our Founders, there is only so much “power” in a political system – a true “zero sum” situation.
- People “power” is called “freedom.”
- Government “power” is called “tyranny.”
- And because only so much power is available, the only place government obtains power is by taking freedoms from the people.
- The more “power” government has, the less “free” the people are.

As they viewed history, our Founders perceived that the constant, unchanging tendency of governments was to gain more and more power, thus leaving their people less and less free.

This was virtually an absolute to them. Remember their own situation. They rebelled against a government they believed was doing just that – growing in tyranny at the expense of its citizens, especially in the American colonies.

This was anathema to our Founders. They hated tyranny, and loved freedom.

And before someone shouts “Slavery!”, never forget it was the principles they established that eventually eradicated slavery in America and around the world.

- Government exists to protect the property of its citizens – to “secure” the natural rights given to them by God.
- Thus, “people power” trumps “government power.”
- Indeed, the only “powers” government has are those the people give it.
- The citizens do realize that (theoretically) there are a few matters government can handle more effectively than individuals (war, police, a national currency) – thus, the people are willing to sacrifice some of their individual rights so that collectively through government, various matters can be handled more efficiently.

- But any right the people give the government can be taken back.
- This is, of course, exactly contrary to modern Leftist dogma – which holds that all our rights come from government.
- Government giveth, and government taketh away.
- Such is 100% opposite the thinking of America’s Founders and is precisely why Leftists hate them so much.

Because they believed the universal, constant tendency of government was to grow and abuse power (thus becoming tyrannical and enslaving their population), the American Founding Fathers gave very little power to the national government they created.

They specified exactly what legislative power that government had (Article 1, Section 8). Laws are what restrict freedom so the Founders were very specific about what the legislative branch could do. Then, the Bill of Rights tells Congress what it cannot do. These are the powers the people gave and forbade, to Congress. By exactly defining the powers of government, the people thus knew exactly what it could and could not do – giving them protection and thus great freedom.

Most governmental powers were placed in the hands of the states and local governments (which were closer to the people) and thus (hypothetically) more controllable. Congress had very few, and very defined powers.

Incidentally – have you ever wondered why political parties are not mentioned in the Constitution? Parties are divisive, and it was not the role of the federal government (which was to be totally neutral) to benefit one section of the populace over another.

Again, read Article 1, Section 8.

Every power given to Congress was to benefit every American equally – the ‘general welfare.’ Political parties thus weren’t needed. Tragically, they began almost immediately after the Constitution was ratified when Alexander Hamilton pushed for a national bank which would (Southerners believed) benefit Northern industry over Southern agriculture. This was actually the first step on the road to our “civil war.”

Back to Adams’ quote. Because of the nature of humanity, humans must be restrained or many of them will do evil. In the Founders’ system, religion was essential for restricting men. Man’s vileness is limited (freely, voluntarily) by religion – thus allowing humans the greatest freedom possible. Our Constitution was indeed made only for a moral and religious people. The system didn’t work as well as the Founders wanted for the very reason they feared – the desire of men for power over others.

Since government tyranny is the goal of the Left, the Bible and the Constitution must be vilified or revised to meet their pleasure. And that is exactly what they are doing today.

The spring real estate market is in full swing and home are going up for sale. But they are staying on the market for longer in a handful of U.S. cities.

In a smattering of cities, homes are staying on the market for an average of more than 60 days, according to the new data from Realtor.com.

“Some of these markets are perennially slow-moving,” said Danielle Hale, chief economist at Realtor.com. “They tend to be smaller markets that are not on the radar of most buyers.”

Isaiah 55:6-11—“Seek you the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the Lord, and He will have mercy on him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. ‘For My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways My ways,’ says the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and do not return there, but water the earth, and make it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall My word by that goes forth from My mouth; it shall not return to Me void, but it shall accomplish what I please, and it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.”
