Luke 21:34-36—“But take heed to yourselves, lest your souls be weighed down with self-indulgence, and drunkenness, or the anxieties of this life, and that day come on you suddenly, like a falling trap; for it will come on all dwellers on the face of the whole earth. But beware of slumbering; and every moment pray that you may be fully strengthened to escape from all these coming evils, and to take your stand in the presence of the Son of Man” (Weymouth New Testament).

An article by Dr. Richard D. Land titled “God Is the Source of Human Rights, Not Government” was posted at christianpost.com on Sept. 26, 2025. Following is the article.

As Americans, we are living in extraordinary times. In my almost eight decades of living in this extraordinary republic called the United States of America, I have never witnessed or experienced anything even approximating the memorial service for Charlie Kirk in Phoenix last Sunday night. Reportedly, well over 100,000 people attended the service, and millions more participated through television.

And the service itself had more of the feel and intensity of a Billy Graham Crusade than a political event. And even though an unprecedented number of high government officials were there (including the U.S. President, Vice President, Secretary of State, and Secretary of War), their remarks were more religious and spiritual than political in tone and substance.

It is becoming increasingly clear that Charlie Kirk has had an amazing and electrifying impact on millions of the nation’s young people – especially Generation Z (1997-2012). I have had at least a dozen colleagues (most involved in some form of ministry) share with me how shocked they were by the emotional impact Charlie Kirk’s death had on their late teen and early twenty-something children. Most of them knew their children listened to him, but had no idea the impact he was having on their thought lives and spiritual lives.

I believe God was using Charlie Kirk as part of a Christian spiritual awakening on our nation’s college and high school campuses. I further believe that his assassination has strengthened and magnified his cause.

Furthermore, it is clear than an unashamed patriotism and love of America is part and parcel of what God has used Charlie Kirk and others to awaken on American campuses and beyond.

Perhaps the disconnect between “what is” (or has been for a generation) and “what is becoming” (now and in the immediate future) is that Americans (disproportionately young) have discovered, or rediscovered the pivotal role of Christianity in the nation’s heritage of who we have been as a country.

Perhaps no recent episode illustrates this more clearly than Senator Tim Kaine’s recent assertion during a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing. A nominee for Assistant Secretary of State stated that the U.S. was founded on the principle that “all men are created equal because our rights come from God our Creator, not from our laws, not from our governments.”

Unfortunately, Senator Kaine said that he found the nominee’s statement “extremely troubling” – when he said: “Claiming that all rights come from the Creator and not from laws or government leaves the door wide open for dictators to ignore the law and simply proclaim they are doing God’s will.”

To put it bluntly, Senator Kaine “puts the cart before the horse.”

Basic human rights came first, and all human beings have them by right because they have been created in God’s image. Laws, Declarations, and Constitutions recognize and guarantee these rights – they do not confer them.

The genius of the American Revolution is that, being based on a Judeo-Christian worldview, the founders understood the necessity of divine origin for basic human rights. The Constitution and the legal and judicial systems are necessary to protect and guard each citizen’s rights, but they can only seek to guarantee, not grant those essential rights.

John Adams was one of the most important founding fathers and America’s second President (1797-1801). Notice the following from his writing titled “From John Adams to Massachusetts Militia,” on October 11, 1798.

Adams wrote: “We have no government armed with Power capable of contending with human Passions unbridled by . . . morality and religion. Avarice, Ambition, Revenge or Gallantry, would break the strongest Cords of our Constitution as a Whale goes through a net. Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious People. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other.”

Another President from Massachusetts, John F. Kennedy, in his eloquent Inaugural address on January 20, 1961 declared: “And yet the same revolutionary beliefs for which our forbears fought are still at issue around the globe – the belief the rights of man come not from the generosity of the state, but from the hand of God.”

And the new President reminded his audience that day: “We dare not forget today, that we are the heirs of that first revolution.”

It must always be remembered that the Western world experienced another revolution less than a decade after the American Revolution.

On July 14, 1789, mobs stormed the Bastille and the French Revolution began. Unlike the American Revolution, the French Revolution quickly descended into a Reign of Terror and produced the totalitarian Napoleonic Empire. The French Revolution declared, “liberty, equality, and fraternity” as the natural rights of man based on nothing more than philosophical assertion.

Such foundations soon proved inadequate. The belief that the natural rights of man needed a basis in a higher power enabled the American Revolution to produce and maintain a society with far more stable and exercised rights by the citizens of the American Republic. One of the most important things that the movement spawned by Charlie Kirk has accomplished is making America’s young people much more aware of the divine origin of the Revolution that has produced their American heritage – and that it is precious, unique, and should be jealously preserved.

Senator Kaine and the many for whom he speaks need to understand that all the law can do (and it is important) is acknowledge and seek to protect those rights that each human being inherently possesses as a consequence of being a human being. Our inalienable rights as human beings exist prior to (and independently of) any governmental entity or legal system.

An Editorial by Staff titled “AOC Distorts Charlie Kirk’s Record on the Civil Rights Act” was posted at nypost.com on Sept. 25, 2025. Following are excerpts of the article.

Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez said on Sept. 19: “[Charlie Kirk] believed that the Civil Rights Act that granted black Americans to vote was a mistake.”

Wrong. Kirk had no problem with equal rights granted by the 1964 Civil Rights Act; he lamented how the law was soon twisted to pave the way for reverse discrimination. Plus: It was the 15th Amendment (not the Civil Rights Act) that gave blacks the right to vote in 1870 – and the Voting Rights Act of 1965 that further secured that right.”

Isaiah 55:6-11—“Seek you the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the Lord, and He will have mercy on him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. ‘For My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways My ways,’ says the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and do not return there, but water the earth, and make it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall My word by that goes forth from My mouth; it shall not return to Me void, but it shall accomplish what I please, and it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.”
